STREET NAMEPLATES

It is important, as we travel further from our local area, that we can find where we are and where we want to go quickly and efficiently. Most importantly it is vital in the event of an urgent situation that you and your street can be located quickly by the Emergency Services.

The Council aims to provide an appropriate level of street nameplates on a road, especially where it has a junction with another road. It may not be possible to sign a street name at every junction.

The Council is also responsible for repair and maintenance of street name plates when this becomes necessary either due to accidental damage, vandalism or normal wear and tear. This has a lesser priority than ensuring each street has a nameplate.

Requests to repair street nameplates are investigated and priority given to signs, or their supports, which are a safety hazard. Signs which have been vandalised may require cleaning by the graffiti removal team. Other damage will be investigated and prioritised for repair.

In the case of a new development however, the developer is responsible either for the erection of street name plates to the Council specification or for arranging the erection by the Council.

To report damaged or , missing street names plates please use the contact details.
